Alpha Iota	Personal Community Service Projects From Fall 2012, Spring 2012, and Spring 2013.	This school year, the men of Alpha Iota took a ambitious outlook on how we could serve our communities and each other better. After looking over the monthly community service hour sheets, we had over 20 members who averaged more than 10 hours a month, and another 10 who averaged over 5 hours a month, in everything from emergency room volunteering, to visiting senior centers, to youth soccer coaching. We are very proud of the way we've looked at service to our house and our community, and we plan on finding ways to improve even more in the next year, with a new philanthropy, and bi-monthly community service events for the entire house. In the past, we haven't been the best about documenting all of our service, but because this year we have more people who want to do service and are keeping track of their hours (especially a couple of our members who contributed over 100 hours over the past two semesters) we were able to record a much larger number of man hours than in years past. Now, that being said, this does include the service from Spring of 2012, which is technically from last year, BUT the statement above said list ALL service done in the 2012-2013 year. If that is an issue, then you should calculate our total man hours with about 480 hours as opposed to 754 hours for the Personal Service Projects.	N/A	754
